What do I want to learn or understand better?

This week we have decided on a project. We will implement an alternative version of the Tickster website. I have never created a website before and have not used the languages that we will use. Therefore, I want to learn how to make a website with help of these new languages. I think it could be a challenge but if we in the team collaborate, I am sure that we will figure it out. I also would like to be better at writing user stories, especially horizontal user stories. I will have the exercise in mind when we start writing our user stories next week.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I think that the team will need to collaborate when learning these new programming languages. I will share any significant information that I will encounter during this learning process.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

This week we have not really started with Scrum yet. Next week we will start our first sprint and apply Scrum to our project. We have been planning towards the first sprint, we started talking about user stories and how to create horizontal user stories.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

This week I joined my team in creating the business model canvas, mock-up, project scope and Definition of Done. I also went to the lectures, meetings and exercises.
