What do I want to learn or understand better?

This week I gained some more understanding regarding how to use React and css. We started to set up the website with some main components. I would still like to learn more about frontend developing. So, this week we divided the group into backend and frontend. Then we wrote user stories relating to either frontend or backend. Then we wrote a user story for the connection between frontend and backend. That resulted in some problems and we did not finish the "connect backend and frontend" user story. So, I want to learn how to write user stories so we don't end up with these horizontal user stories. We will talk with our TA on the next supervision session to figure this out.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

As stated earlier weeks, I think I can help the team to gather information to solve problems and tasks. Because I'm still in a learning process, I think that the most reasonable thing to do.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

I joined my team in the sprint planning, sprint review and sprint retrospective. I think that these meetings are improving these weeks. I also contributed with code review, because it is a part of our DoD.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I joined the frontend team and we managed to finish pretty many user stories this week. I also joined the team in writing the team reflection.
