What do I want to learn or understand better?

I am eager to create a website and learn how to do that for real towards a real costumer. I have played a little with websites before but doing a big one with (probably) React will be fun to learn. Also how to make a website with a backend as well.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

In upper secondary school I did a html website with css and jQuery and even though we don't plan on using html I think that that experience might be of help and hopefully I can revive much of my knowledge of css. I already started a few tutorials of React as well.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

This week we haven't been practising Scrum so much, we have mostly been looking for a project. We have talked about the sprint next week and in those discussions I have been active and we have been trying to figure out how to do it together.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I have been sick this week and have therefor missed a little bit. I mostly tried to listen in via digital meetings, but I was actively contributing to the writing of the DoD-document.
